Dedication

*"The world's a body, every liberal art
A needful member, music the soul and heart."*

To the Music Department of the University of Dubuque the student yearbook staff dedicates the 1955 KEY.

Through the years the University Music Department has given vocal and instrumental instruction to students who have in turn served "the whole church and the world" by using their musical knowledge and talents, perhaps as church choir directors, professional artists, or high school instructors.

Serving as head of the Music Department is Dr. Doy M. Baker. Miss Edith Groff has been instructor in piano since 1938. Assistant professors of music are Frank LeJeune, Donald W. Prindle, and Donald Marburger, Chapel Choir director. Miss Caryl Wamsley is instructor in violin.

Faculty Recital

Through public recitals and radio broadcasts the faculty members have shared their musical talents with the University and the community. Music students also appear in recitals throughout the year. Organizations sponsored by the Music Department provide experience for the University students. The forty-four piece Symphony Orchestra, composed of students, faculty, townspeople, and out-of-town artists, presented three concerts this year with Frank LeJeune conducting.

The Symphony Orchestra

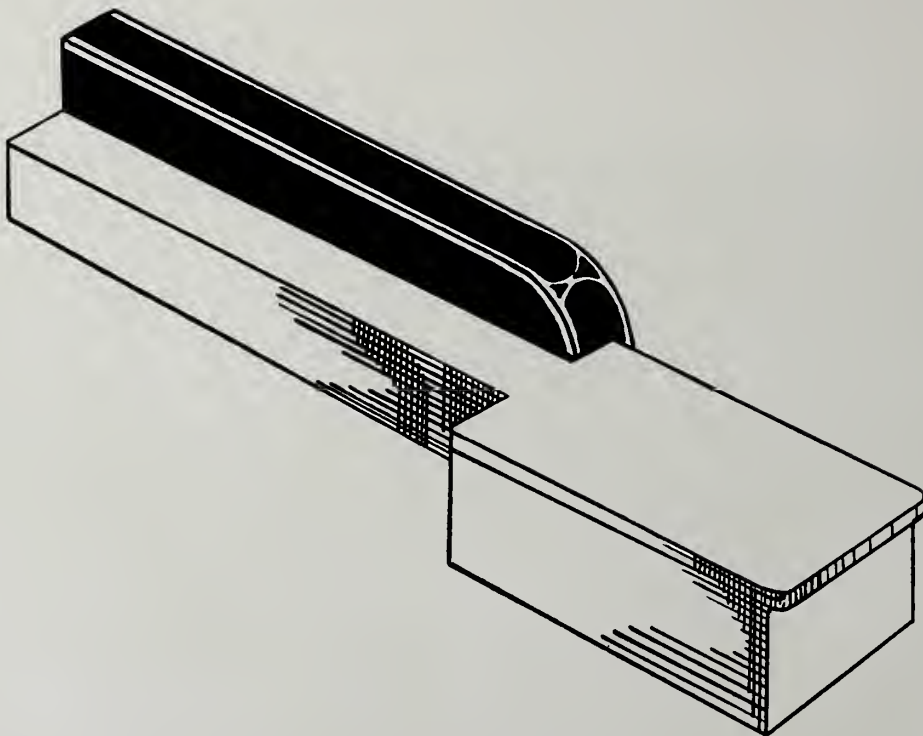

The Dubuque Concert Choir

Under Donald W. Prindle's direction, the Dubuque Concert Choir is fast achieving recognition as one of the outstanding college choirs in the Midwest. The Choir presented inspirational sacred music for over twenty-six audiences in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa. Conducted by Frank LeJeune, the University Band presented a "pops" concert on campus and in surrounding communities. The band also aided in boosting student spirit at athletic events and pep rallies.

The University Band

Campus

Steffens Hall

Serving as the hub for all University activity is Steffens Hall. A well-known meeting place for students is "under the rotunda." From this central point, students branch out to attend lectures in the various college classrooms, to relax with friends in the Jacob Konzett Lounge, or to pursue their studies in the college library. The "J C" Lounge often changes from an informal gathering place where students listen to popular records and just chat to a formal reception room where students meet with visiting speakers.

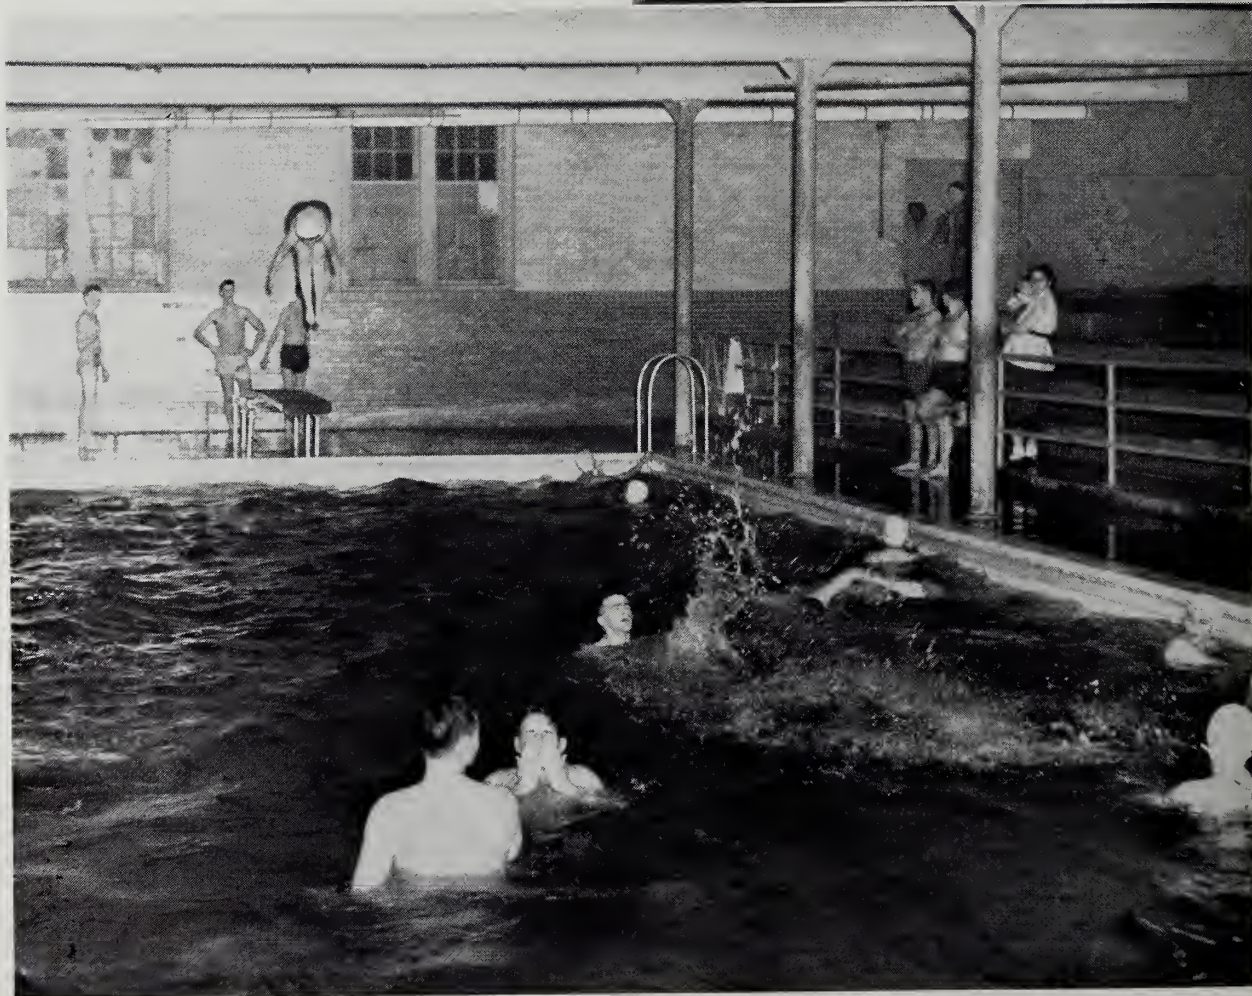

College Chapel

Walking from the rotunda in Steffens, down the side corridor, students enter an adjoining building, the College Chapel. All students pass through these oak doors to attend weekly chapel services. Many use this building for daily meditation. Music students find that many hours are spent in the chapel, where they may practice the organ, sing choral numbers, and participate in recitals. The chimes from the chapel tower often ring out across the campus before chapel services and vespers, calling the students to worship.

McCormick Gym

After leaving the chapel, by using the left passageway door, a student turns his steps towards McCormick Gym, the University physical education center. Students linger on the steps before entering the building to attend gym classes and to participate in extra-curricular athletics. A favorite pastime is splashing in the swimming pool downstairs. In the winter, the gym opens its doors to fans who watch Spartan cagers play on the hard court or wrestlers tussle on the mat. Students also meet here for all-school assemblies.

Chalmers Field

In the fall and again in the spring, both athletes and fans follow McCormick Street to a huge white picket fence which marks the entrance to Chalmers Field. Cheering students head for the grandstands where they can watch the football action on the field or the track activity on the cinders. Between football halves or track events, the spectators sitting in the stands may look out over Chalmers Field to view in the distance rolling green hills, swaying tree branches, and spacious blue skies.

Seminary Library

Near McCormick Gym stands Van Vliet Hall, housing the Theological Seminary. The Seminary has expanded with the construction of a new library. Since last fall, students have watched the men break the ground, raise the steel girders, and finally lay the bricks. Now they view the completed Seminary Library.

Severance Hall

Across the street from the Theological Seminary is the women's residence, Severance Hall. The girls entertain visitors in the main lounge and the S C A room located downstairs. They also make use of the handy kitchenette and the dining room to the left of the lounge.

Peters Commons

Peters Commons becomes the popular campus building at meal time when students hurry to the main dining hall. For between meal snacks, the Oak Room, located next to the dining hall, has frequent visitors. Avid television viewers often congregate in this snack bar to watch variety shows as well as boxing matches on TV.

Ruston Hall

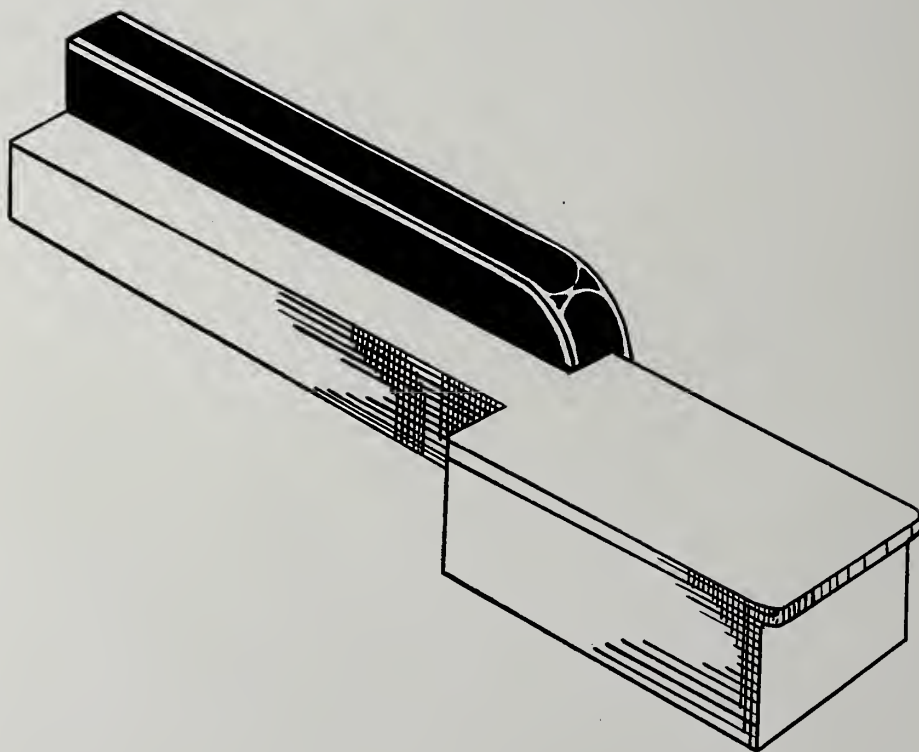

Across the street from Steffens Hall on University Avenue is Ruston Hall, a two-story brick building that houses the University music department and the Dubuque Academy of Music. Located here are faculty studios and classrooms. Strains of music are continually heard throughout this building as students make use of the various practice rooms.

Campus Lane Theater

Downstairs in Peters Commons is the Campus Lane Theater, home of the University speech department. Under faculty direction, drama students spend many hours working on play productions.

Administration

GAYLORD M. COUCHMAN
President of the University of Dubuque

President Gaylord M. Couchman serves as the key director of the University of Dubuque. His position requires masterly technique in blending all the melodies of the University life into one magnificent chord. Former pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Dr. Couchman has a wide knowledge of the University, the students, and the faculty. Since taking the president's chair in 1953, he has delicately tuned his ear to note any discord within the University family so that he may act quickly to retain harmony.

President Gaylord M. Couchman

THE PRESIDENT'S FAMILY—Mrs. Couchman, Johnny, Barbara, Carol, Mary, and Dr. Couchman.

Executive Committee

President Couchman heads the Executive Committee, which is appointed by the University Board of Directors to function in the interim between Board meetings.

Since the Board meets only biannually, once in the spring before Commencement and once in the fall, the Executive Committee is charged by the Board to study and make rulings concerning any problems that would naturally come to the Board.

Meeting monthly, the Executive Committee examines the administrative policies to see that they follow the University aims and objectives and also reviews the monthly financial report of the University.

During this year, the Committee has made important decisions concerning the construction of the seminary library, among them being the selection of the architect, the letting of bids, and the checking of the construction progress.

The Committee has also been studying plans for the construction of a new seminary dormitory and are now in the process of submitting plans and specifications to construction companies for bids. It is hoped that the contract for the construction of the dormitory be let within the next three weeks and that the building be ready for occupancy early this fall.

Standing—Wm. Tjaden, E. B. Lindsay, P. J. Laube, R. Loetscher, D. B. Cassat.

Sitting—Wm. Zuker, G. M. Couchman, A. D. Donnell.

Not Pictured—R. W. Clewell, G. H. Swalve.

WILLIAM B. ZUKER
Vice-President of the University

William Burdette Zuker, Vice-President of the University, came to Dubuque in August of 1921 as professor of chemistry. Now completing thirty-four years of service to this Presbyterian college, Dr. Zuker was acting President from 1927-1929 and again from 1935-1936.

Dr. William B. Zuker Serves As University Vice-President

As well as assuming the duties of University vice-president, Dr. Zuker instructs college chemistry classes and heads the College Division of Natural Sciences. In December he was named president of the newly organized Iowa Inter-Collegiate Athletic Conference. Dr. Zuker also serves as chairman of the University Programs Committee.

Assistant To The President

An alumnus of the University of Dubuque College of Liberal Arts and the Theological Seminary, Eugene Siekmann has filled the position of assistant to the president for two years. In charge of promoting the University and its Christian cause, Mr. Siekmann travels to Presbyterian churches throughout the Midwest and often presents a pictorial and narrative description of the University and its accomplishments through colored slides and the recorded voices of students.

HARRY TURNER
Business Manager of the University

Business Manager

Harry Turner, as business manager, has handled the University finances for the last two years. A graduate of Park College and McCormick Theological Seminary, Mr. Turner came to the University in 1945. Prior to his appointment as business manager, Mr. Turner served as admissions counselor and director of admissions.

Elwyn A. Smith

As Dean of the Theological Seminary, Dr. Elwyn A. Smith supervises the academic program for the Seminary. Before coming to Dubuque he served on the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, where he was author of Faith and Life church school curriculum. On a leave of absence last year, Dean and Mrs. Smith spent eight months traveling and studying in Europe. Dean Smith earned his B.A. at Wheaton College, and has received his Ph.D. from Harvard, B.D. from Yale Divinity School, and M.Th. from Princeton Theological Seminary.

Resident Heads

Tony Schavone

Resident head of Steffens Hall, Tony Schavone is an alumnus who has served the University in a variety of ways. In addition to his counseling and coaching duties, he is adviser for the Thirteeners Fraternity and the Inter-fraternity Council. Tony and his wife, Alice, make their home in an apartment on the second floor of Steffens, where students are often entertained.

Mrs. Lucille Duncan

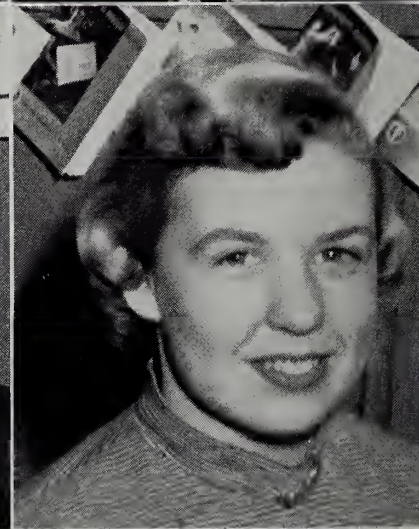

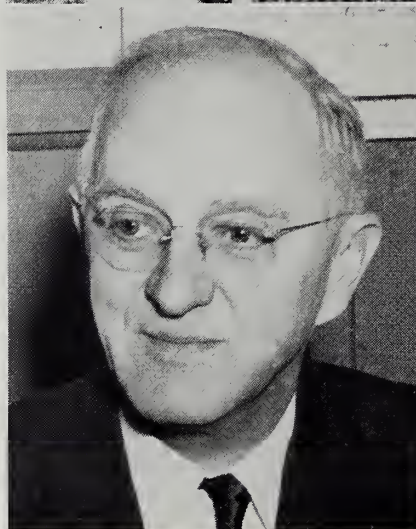

Mrs. Lucille Duncan is completing her second year as resident head of Severance Hall. A native of Virginia, she is a trained nurse and came to the University from Huntington College in Indiana, where she was resident head of a boys' dormitory. In addition to supervising dormitory activities and serving as adviser to House Council, "Mom" is always ready to lend a sympathetic ear to any problems.

Academics

Department of Biblical Studies

Markus Barth
Professor of New Testament

Joseph Mihelic
Professor of Old
Testament

To know the Bible, the record of the acts of God, is one requirement of men preparing for the Christian ministry. As pictured below, Dr. Mihelic introduces the Old Testament to Alden Showalter and junior seminarians, Arnold Ziegler, Harold Rambo, and George Pike, by using reproductions of ancient Hebrew manuscripts. As middlers, the seminarians make detailed exegetical studies of the various Biblical books and as seniors, they may choose to do research.

Theological Seminary

Department of Systematic Theology

Arthur C. Cochrane
Professor of Systematic Theology

Whitaker T. Deininger
Lecturer in Philosophy of Religion

To have an orderly understanding of Christian beliefs, seminary students include systematic theology courses in their studies. They carefully examine the doctrine of God, the work of His creation, as well as the doctrines of providence and reconciliation. In the picture below, the Rev. Mr. Carlston directs Robert Schnucker and Hans Jung in the examination of the works of prominent theologians.

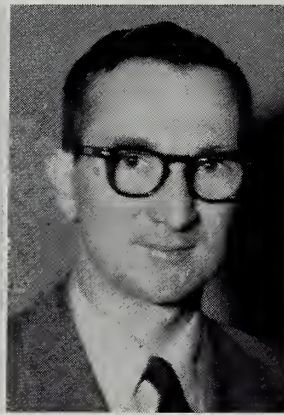

Theological Seminary

Department of Church History

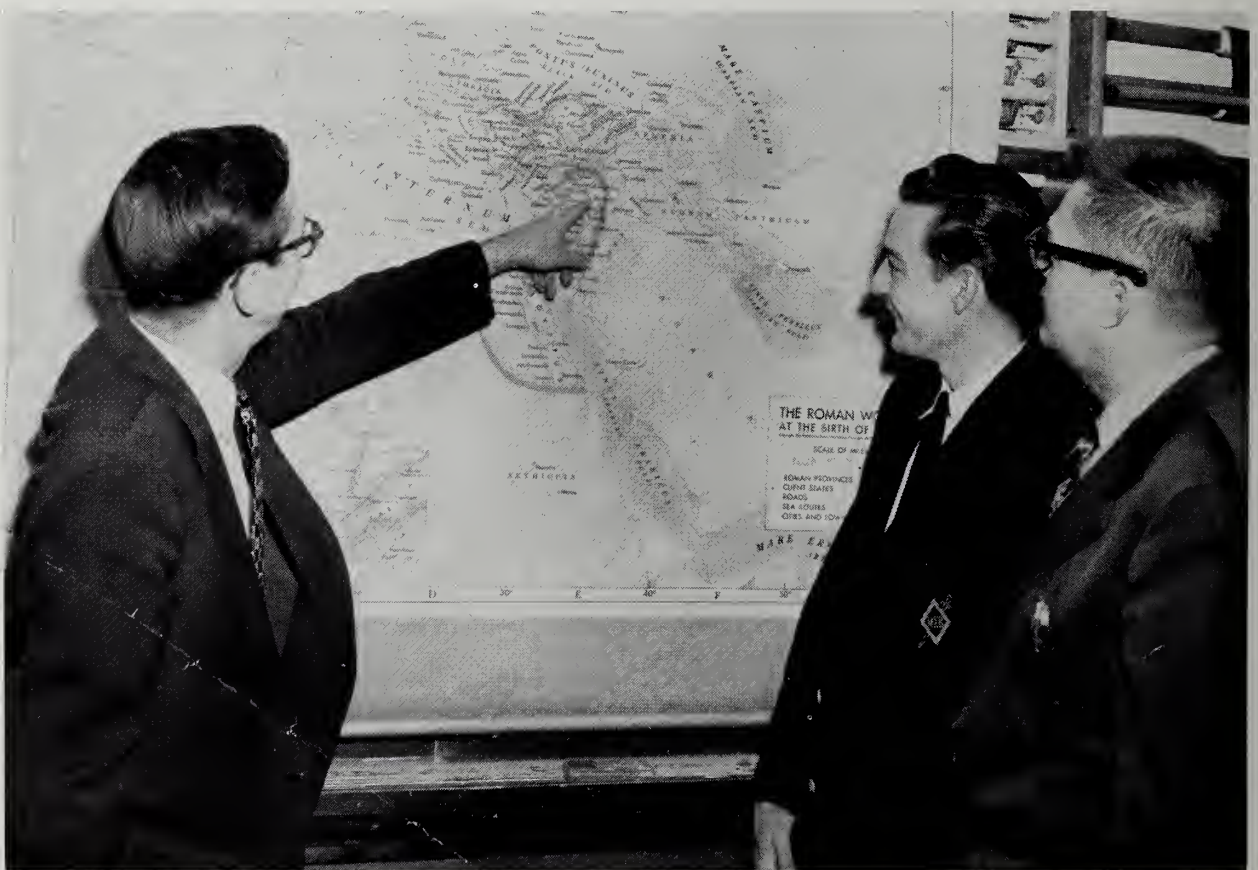

Charles Carlston
Lecturer in Church
History

Elwyn A. Smith
Professor of Church
History

To know how Christian beliefs have affected the lives of God's people in the Church is the purpose of seminary students taking courses in the Department of Church History, which includes a detailed examination of Christianity from its beginnings to the present. Emphasis is given to the ecumenical church movement. In the picture below, Dean Smith points to a place in Christian history well known by seminarians Dwayne Merry and Howard Spiegel.

Theological Seminary

Department of Christian Education

Doy M. Baker
Lecturer in Church
Music

Charles W. Tyrrell
Lecturer in Christian
Education

To present the message of Christ to children, youth, and adults, seminarians learn the techniques of teaching in the Department of Christian Education. Discussion, story-telling, dramatization, and projects are various techniques that are considered. Pictured below, Dwayne Merry and Mark Witmer demonstrate the procedure for threading a movie projector, an important visual aid, to Richard Gibbins, Earl Davis, and Melvin Reth.

Theological Seminary

Department of Homiletics

David I. Berger
Professor of Preaching

Ralph Towne
Instructor in Speech

To learn to convey the Gospel of Jesus Christ to his congregation, a seminarian must have practical experience in planning, developing, and delivering sermons. Attempting to effectively communicate his thoughts, Harvey Senecal speaks to colleagues who aid him by giving constructive criticism of his text and delivery.

Theological Seminary

Department of Rural Church

Calvin Schnucker
Professor of Rural Church
Director of Rural Church and Life

To know the life of rural citizens and how to meet their needs as ministers, seminarians study the sociology of rural life. Through this department, students are introduced to the rural parish. Many seminarians have rural churches in the Dubuqueland area, as does student pastor Howard Bretner, who is pictured below.

College Division of Philosophy and Religion

Building a Christian faith is at the core of the College Division of Philosophy and Religion. The University of Dubuque, which has as its foundation a Christian heritage, assumes the responsibility for leading the student to know the Bible and the history of the church and to develop a personal philosophy. All freshman students survey the Old and New Testaments of the Bible, while juniors and seniors consider Ethics and Christian Philosophy and Modern Thought. Christian education students select courses in this division.

The Seminary Brotherhood is the official student governing body of the Theological Seminary. Organized two years ago, the group strives to represent effectively the entire student body of the Seminary and to provide programs that promote the spiritual and recreational life of the seminarians.

The Brotherhood conducted the all-seminary retreat in the fall and made arrangements for the distribution of a weekly benevolence offering. This group sponsored intramural football and basketball tournaments and organized a money-raising campaign to furnish several rooms in Van Vliet Hall.

During their freshman year, nursing students at Finley Hospital supplement their training with several classes at the University, including chemistry, biology, physiological hygiene, nutrition, psychology, and physical education. In addition to their classes the nurses also attend chapel once a week and take part in other University activities. This year the Student Nurses' float won third prize in the Homecoming parade.

Representing the student body of the University of Dubuque, the Student Senate promotes interest in student government, coordinates school activities, and provides for closer cooperation between the faculty, students and administration.

In the fall before the opening of school, the Senate sponsored the third annual Student Leadership Seminar. Recognizing the importance of good student leadership on a college campus, the Senate invited officers and leaders of all campus organizations to attend this seminar.

One important activity of the Senate was coordinating the activities of the two major events of the year, Homecoming and May Fete.

For the enjoyment of the student body, the Senate sponsored two assemblies during the year. The University of Wisconsin drama quartet presented a murder mystery, "Edwina Black," and Mr. George Groman spoke to the students about dialects and impersonations.

In an effort to produce better campus life, the Senate has focused its attention on the remodeling of the recreation room located in the basement of Steffens Hall. The walls were painted; the floor, tiled; the pool table, refinished; and a juke box, installed with hopes of turning the "rec room" into an all-campus hangout.

National Student Association

Organized on this campus in 1951, the National Student Association strives to improve student government and student relationships.

By gathering all types of information on all phases of student activity on this campus and other college campuses in Iowa, Illinois, and Wisconsin, this group attempts to keep the students informed on the organization of various activities.

In February the National Student Association initiated a Campus Chest Week at the University, in order to concentrate charity-giving during one weekly period. The four charities to which the students contributed were the Community Chest, Heart fund, Cancer, and Polio.

In order to improve the relations of the colleges in Dubuque, the NSA is formulating plans to start a three-school council in the city. Participating schools would be Loras and Clarke Colleges, and the University of Dubuque.

The Severance House Council is the governing body of the women's resident hall. Duties of the organization are to formulate house regulations, handle disciplinary problems, and sponsor social activities.

Seeking to foster a feeling of good fellowship and cooperation among the dormitory residents, the Council sponsored the annual Open House in October, which included guided tours of the dormitory, and a Thanksgiving service. The annual Christmas slumber party featured the play, "Why the Chimes Rang."

The Student Christian Association, with a membership of over one hundred fifty students, stimulates interest in Christian faith and life on the University campus. The year's activities are centered around the five commission plan of faith, fellowship, witness, citizenship, and outreach.

In the fall the SCA fellowship commission sponsored the big brother and big sister program and the banquet for the new students. Other activities planned by this commission were a marshmallow roast, a twaddle party, and the SCA Christmas banquet.

Expands Welfare Program

The group fostered Christian faith on the campus by directing the weekly vesper services and daily morning watch in the Chapel.

Throughout the year the SCA has shown a number of films including "Out of the Night" and "The Street," two films made by the Pacific Garden Mission.

This group also collected ninety-five pounds of clothing, which they sent to the Indians of Nez Pierce Tribe, and sponsored the giving of baskets of food to needy Dubuque families at Thanksgiving.

As a service project, the SCA initiated a program to aid with Dubuque slum problems. By forming a program through which students could gain practical experience in social work, the SCA organized student teams to help the Dubuque citizens that reside in sections of the city where poor living conditions prevail. Proceeds of the all-University SCA carnival in April went to the Welfare Fund.

SCA members visit with children from Lennox Avenue.

Rod Riggs and SCA President Warren Hoffman look over the large number of Thanksgiving baskets given to needy families by various campus organizations and classes.

Summer experiences of interest to the group was the first program of the year, with Marian Sessler describing her trip to Alaska and Ruth Lauterbach telling of her work in Pine Ridge, South Dakota. Other activities included entertaining alumni at a Homecoming luncheon, entering a float in the Homecoming parade, and decorating the gymnasium for Thanksgiving assembly.

In November an initiation service and banquet were held for thirteen new members, with Dean Elwyn Smith presenting the challenge. The meditation room in Severance Hall was completed, a project begun last year by the group. The organization held a leadership workshop, presented a chapel service, gave a basket for a needy family, and a Christmas box for children in Taos, New Mexico. The year of fellowship ended with flunk weekend spent at the Palisades.

Iowa Future Teachers Association

To promote and understand the highest ideals of the teaching profession is the aim of the Dubuque chapter of the Iowa Future Teachers Association organized in 1947.

This group, retaining national membership for three consecutive years, plans monthly meetings, keeping the above purpose in mind.

For their first meeting, to get acquainted, the future teachers picnicked at Eagle Point Park. There they formulated plans for a Homecoming float which would create interest in the organization as well as increase Homccoming spirit.

In November Dr. W. Deininger spoke to the members on the "Philosophy of Teaching." Christmas films highlighted the next meeting with carol-singing and refreshments adding to the Yuletide enjoyment.

Mr. C. L. Le Cocq, director of curriculum and teaching in the Dubuque schools, spoke to the future teachers in January. Members of the organization who went to the fall and spring Northeast Regional meetings of IFTA and the Delegate Assembly in Des Moines shared their experiences with the group.

Delta Tau Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity, was founded at the University of Dubuque in May of 1953, becoming the second school in the state of Iowa and the 121st in the nation to pass its very rigid qualifications for membership.

The purpose of Phi Alpha Theta is to recognize excellence in the study of history. Since the first chapter was founded in 1921 some fifteen thousand, including many on the basis of their excellence in graduate study, have been honored to wear its key.

Listening to reports by individual members, taking part in discussions led by professors, visiting points of historical interest, attending conferences at other colleges, and sponsoring a reception for John Harvey Furbay were some of the activities of this year.

The only national scholastic honorary group on the campus, Phi Alpha Theta has been endeavoring to raise the level of academic work in its particular area of concern.

Under the direction of Ralph Towne, speech professor, the debate team competed in a meet at Bradley University which involved nearly fifty colleges and universities and nearly five hundred students. At this tournament the U team defeated Ripon College.

Other debates in which the U team competed were Northern State Teachers College, De Kalb, and the University of Iowa, Iowa City.

The Iowa Lambda Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, the national honorary forensics fraternity, was reactivated this year. The reinstatement of the local chapter was fulfilled when two representatives were sent to the National convention of Pi Kappa Delta in Redlands, California, in April.

The Messengers were organized in 1952 by Warren Hoffman and a number of other young men who loved to sing. The members are men preparing for Christian professions in many fields who feel that they want to share their faith with other Christians.

The Messengers have sung for a great number of groups throughout Dubuqueland and nearby Iowa and Illinois communities. In addition they made a four-day tour of the Midwest, which covered seven community churches and schools in northern and central Iowa and South Dakota.

Functioning through the Student Christian Association Outreach Commission, the versatile group presents a program of hymns, anthems and spirituals.

University Band

"Broadway Showtime," a "pops" concert in February, featured the University of Dubuque Band, under the direction of Frank Le Jeune, professor of music.

The program presented by the seventeen-piece group included selections from the Broadway hits "South Pacific," "Kiss Me Kate," "Carousel," "Music in the Air," "Bittersweet," and "Girl Crazy."

The band concert was given after a home basketball game with Beuna Vista.

To boost school spirit the University Band also provided music for football and basketball games.

Chapel Choir

The Chapel Choir, under the direction of Donald Marburger, music professor, has provided choral music for college worship services throughout the year.

Using anthems, hymns, early chants, and choral prayers, the group has presented a number of worship-through-music services, including a program of Advent music in December.

The Chapel Choir provided a Lenten service that featured Carl Halter's Antiphon for Passontide, a musical chant.

The group has also performed off-campus for a World Day of Prayer service at Third Presbyterian Church in Dubuque.

Donald Marburger.....Director

Orchestra

The forty-four piece University of Dubuque Orchestra presented three concerts in the Peters Commons throughout this year, with Frank Le Jeune conducting.

For the December concert, the symphony orchestra, composed of University students, faculty, townspeople, and out-of-town musicians, presented the music of Schubert, Beethoven, Delibes, Barber, and Bizet.

A narration by Donald Prindle, music professor, of "Lincoln Portrait" by Aaron Copland climaxed the February concert. Mrs. Mary Ann Witmer was featured soloist in Piano Concerto K. 488 In A Major by Mozart.

Frank Le Jeune Conductor

Highlighting the April concert was a tenor solo from Leoncavallo's Pagliacci by Dr. Edward J. Thorne, speech and dramatic professor.

Reorganized this year as an all-school pep club, the Spartan Club attempts to promote enthusiasm and support not only for athletic events, but for other all-school functions, such as concerts and plays. Each student is considered a member of this organization, since school spirit is the responsibility of each student at the University.

The activities are planned and directed by the Central Committee, consisting of the officers, who are elected by the student body, three representatives from each class, and the cheerleaders.

The major Spartan Club project this year was the Sadie Hawkins Dance. In addition, they presented several pep rallies, sponsored a cake walk after the last home basketball game, and chartered a bus to the out-of-town Luther basketball game.

Chi Gamma Iota, the Greek letters representing X-GI, was organized in the spring of 1954 by a group of veterans on the University campus who felt the need of a group through which veteran problems could be discussed.

The purposes of this organization are two; (1) to inform the veteran of the rights and benefits which are his under Public Laws 346 and 550; and (2) to alleviate the burden of the administration by advising and discussing within the group curriculum changes and graduation requirements of both new and returning students who have served in the armed forces.

Chi Gamma Iota is not a social fraternity, but seeks only to aid the veterans and the administration.

To provide an annual that will serve as a memory book for the students and to give an accurate and complete record of the year's activities at the University are the main goals of the KEY staff.

Producing a yearbook takes much initial page by page planning. Then follow many hours of scheduling picture settings, sorting pictures, writing copy, counting spaces, reading copy, and correcting proof.

However, all the hours spent in planning and producing the yearbook seem worthwhile to the staff members when they see students leafing through the pages of the completed book.

In the fall, the Gammas serenaded Dr. and Mrs. Elwyn Smith on their return home from an European trip, with two additions to their family, Rebecca and Paul, whom they adopted in Germany. Other highlights of the Gammas' year included the fall closed party, a hayride ending at the Wayne Normans' home for refreshments; a movie party for faculty children and children from Mt. Pleasant home.

New Students Get Acquainted

Before the official opening of the academic year, freshmen and transfer students arrived on campus for the New Student Days activities. During this busy week, the students became acquainted with the University as they participated in orientation meetings, tests, pep rallies, and picnics. Sophomore class president, Barbara Skaife, issued the initiation rules to the Class of 1958, which included the necessity of wearing freshmen beanies. The talent show, featuring a dance by Anne Bartholomew, a male quartet, and a freshmen combo, ended the first week of college for the new students.

Kuebler, noted lecturer and educator, addressed the faculty and students. Following a custom that originated in European schools, the freshmen were formally received as a class within the University academic program. Juniors in the seminary were also recognized. Following the convocation, students and faculty members met and talked with Dr. Kuebler at the All-University Reception in the Jacob Conzett Lounge.

Senate Presents UD Sign

Dr. Gaylord Couchman accepts the 1954 Senate's gift presented by Arnold Ziegler, last year's Senate president.

Highlighting the opening of the 1954 Homecoming celebration was the dedication of the new "University of Dubuque" sign, a gift of the last year's Student Senate. The sign was presented by Arnold Ziegler, 1953-54 Senate president, and was accepted by Dr. Gaylord Couchman, President of the University.

Present were Bill Babbs, Betty Galliard, Ray Bley, Warren Melchert, Dick Baskerville, and George French, members of last year's Senate, as well as Frank H. Bretz, Dean of Students.

A large group of University students, faculty members, and Dubuque residents, viewed the ceremony in which Dr. Couchman expressed appreciation for student loyalty.

A surprised Joyce receives the news that she is the 1954 Homecoming Queen.

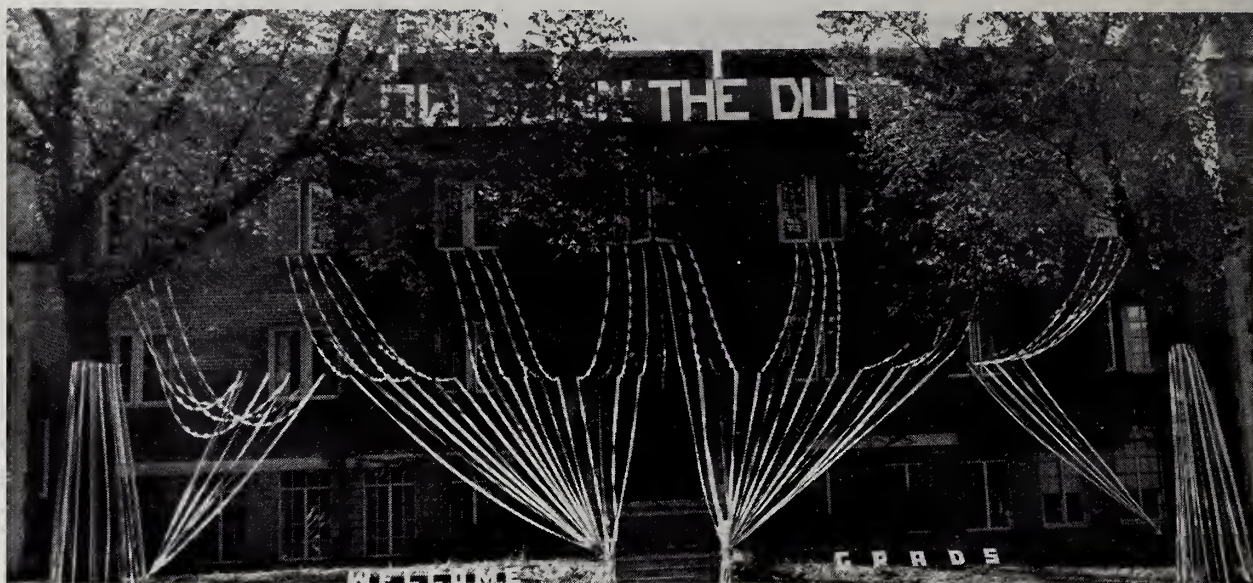

Chosen from a group of fifteen campus coeds selected by the football team, Miss Joyce Mills reigned as queen of the 1954 Homecoming festivities. After the sign presentation, the Queen and her court were announced by the "D" Club president, Keith Holmes, and presented to the students by football team representatives.

Members of the royal court were Mona Peterson, freshman; Cheryl Craig, sophomore; Patricia Gibson, junior; and Jane Clow, senior. The football team presented silver music boxes to the girls.

Iowans on the Campus

University of Dubuque Has a Century of History

THOUGH the University of Dubuque has students from as far away as Pakistan, Korea, India, Iran, Germany and England, Iowans, quite naturally, predominate on the campus. This year's enrollment of 530 men and women includes 416 Iowans, of whom 133 live in Dubuque. The University has more than a century of history behind it, having been founded in 1852 by Adrian Van Vliet, who was pastor of a German congregation in Dubuque. It was originally known as "The German Theological School of the Northwest" and has had its present name only since 1920. It has been affiliated with the Presbyterian church since 1870.

Faith and Life Week

In November students and faculty joined in the annual Faith and Life Week, a week of spiritual emphasis sponsored by the Christian Life Council. Leading the Dubuque family in this spiritual adventure, Dr. William E. Everheart of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Amarillo, Texas, spoke each morning to the students assembled in the McCormick Gymnasium. Topics for the morning meetings included Christians Out to Be Different, The Scramble for Security, Playing the Game of Life, Spiritual Comets, and The Way Out Is Up.

Dr. Everheart conducted sessions each evening in the chapel as well as discussions with the women and men in their respective dormitories. Opportunities for consultation with Dr. Everheart were available to the students.

Christmas Season Initiates

Miss Elsa Logan leads French students in singing carols.

Before leaving the Dubuque campus for the Christmas holidays, students participate in many Yuletide functions. A highlight of the season is the traditional presentation of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," at St. Luke's Methodist Church. The chorus was conducted this year by Donald Prindle, music professor. For the third year, French and German students under the direction of Professor Elsa M. Logan presented a program of readings and carols from lands around the globe.

An informal all-school dance, "Club Christmas," touched off a series of Yuletide parties and banquets planned by various fraternities, sororities, and campus organizations. Attending the Christmas banquet and dorm parties, caroling, wrapping presents for underprivileged children: these and other activities filled the pre-Christmas calendar of Dubuque students.

First Semester Ends

After Christmas vacation, with final exams approaching, students engage themselves in an activity called page-turning. Groups of students gather in the Jacob Conzett Lounge and in dormitory rooms to pour over lecture notes. The lights in the dormitories burn long after midnight until the fatal week arrives.

Wishing the ordeal were over, students mill around halls waiting for final examinations to begin. Then after they have turned in their test efforts, students linger in the halls comparing answers to the exam questions.

Waiting for final class grades keeps students wondering for a week or two. However, Don Michaels, pictured at the right, seems happy with the semester's results.

Registration - 'All My Sons'

First semester finals are no sooner over than students once more sign up for a full load of studies. The process of registering recalls one thing to mind—long lines of impatient students, waiting and wondering when the line is going to move forward.

The Dubuque thespians could relax now, since they had admirably presented their drama while still busy studying for finals. Under the direction of Dr. E. J. Thorne, the Campus Lane Players presented Arthur Miller's "All My Sons," a tragedy acclaimed as one of the finest modern dramas. Bernard Koerselman played the role of Chris Keller, a boy home from the war who learns that his brother's death is due to defective airplane parts turned out by their profiteering father. Pictured below in a scene from the play are Lloyd Alamsha as Joe Keller, the father; John Couchman as Bert; Anne Eninger as Kate Keller, Joe's wife; and Tom Powers as George Deever. Campus Chest Week

In an effort to concentrate all charity-giving during one week, the National Student Association sponsored a Campus Chest Week. The charities to which the students were asked to give were Polio, Heart Fund, Cancer, and Community Chest.

To boost the Campus Chest goal, NSA organized several Chinese auctions. Taking place in the Commons after the evening meal, auctioneer Ben Tate offered a free sundae to the highest bidder.

Mrs. Kremer's position for a day, a free meal cooked by the home economics department, and shoes polished by Dean Bretz were other items offered to top bidders.

Rushing Activities

Girls attend rushing teas.

Boys experience "Heck Week."

Throughout the months of February and March, sororities and fraternities are busy with one of their biggest social events of the year—rushing. At this time new students are swept up in the whirl of teas and parties where they have the opportunity to get better acquainted with Greek letter groups.

After the rushees pledge themselves to a particular fraternity or sorority, they have a chance to prove their loyalty to the organization of their choice during what is known as "Heck Week," by bowing to every command of the "honorable" actives.

When the pledges have passed the rigid test, they are formally initiated. The rushing activities come to a close with the presentation of the new actives at the annual inter-fraternity dance.

In Iowa Conference

Striking a pose similar to the leaning Tower of Pisa, Center Skip Berthold (23) aids Larry Morningstar.

After Macalester won the opener on a safety, 2-0, the Blue and White thumped Upper Iowa 7-6. A 36-yard run by Norm Rathje to the Peacock's 10-yard line set up the winning score. Line smashes by Rathje and Sammy Rice took the ball to the 2, where Rathje punched it over. Max Sparger kicked the crucial point.

Stellar performances by Tom McCutcheon and Rice paced the UD gridders to a 20-19 victory over Parsons. Parsons leading 6-0, McCutcheon took a kickoff on his own 3-yard line, racing down the sidelines 97 yards for a tying touchdown. After Parsons had scored again, the Spartan captain led another TD march, plunging from two yards out. Dick Duty's boot split the uprights and Dubuque led 13-12. Rice broke loose for a 76-yard run to cross the Wildcat's goal once more. Duty's conversion was again true, providing the winning margin.

Tony Schavone, Assistant Football Coach.

Iowa Wesleyan's mighty legions fell 13-7 before a fired-up Spartan team that would not be denied. A large delegation of UD students made the 150 mile trek to Mt. Pleasant, rooting the Mercermen on to their third conference win.

Fine play by Hank Vining, John Dotzel, Lloyd Alamsha, and Max Sparger, members of the Dubuque forward wall, highlighted the game as they opened up holes, rose up to hold and stifle Wesleyan's attack. This was the Tigers' initial loss in Iowa Conference play since 1951.

Fashioning the first of three decisive breaks for themselves, the Blue and White defense rushed in on a punt, causing it to travel only 4 yards to I-W's 27 stripe. Everyone in the Spartan backfield took turns moving the ball, Rathje cracking over from the 5. Duty's extra point was good.

Recovery of a fumble gave Dubuque possession on their opponents' 29-yard line. Rice and Rathje carried the ball to the 5 where Rathje put it over. The kick was low. The U's third break came when Werner Berg squelched a Tiger bid by intercepting a pass on his own 5, dashing 95 yards to score. The touchdown was nullified by a clipping penalty, but Dubuque retained possession at mid-field.

Captain Tom "Mouse" McCutcheon leads the Blue and White onto the field through an aisle of cheering students.

Look. No hands!

Brushing up against a Simpson team inspired by Homecoming, the University eleven salvaged a 13-13 tie in the final moments. After Rice had scored on a 35-yard run in the first quarter, Simpson came back with two tallies.

Trailing 13 to 6 with less than 6 minutes left to play, the Spartans put on a goal-line stand to halt a 70-yard Simpson drive to the 2, by pushing the Redmen back three yards before taking over on downs on the 5. After punting, Dubuque recovered a fumble on Simpson's 40. A series of passes moved the ball to the 7 where McCutcheon scampered over. Duty's placement tied the score 13-all with only seconds remaining.

Next the Blue and White toppled Central 13-7 to extend Dubuque's Homecoming victory streak to 14. The string covers the 16 years that Coach Mercer has been at the U. During the war years of 1943 and 1944 there were no Homecoming games.

The victory also avenged a 22-0 loss to Central in 1953 and caused the U to regain possession of the Victory Bell. Rathje put on a dazzling offensive show for the over-capacity alum-packed crowd. He gained 140 yards rushing and scored the first touchdown on a 22-yard power thrust over center.

Grid opponents attempt to halt Sammy Rice.

In the Homecoming match against Central, Rathje also booted an extra point after speedy Werner Berg dashed around end 10 yards for the second tally, and intercepted a pass which almost went for another TD as the game ended.

Armon Johannsen had a fine passing record against Central, completing 4 out of 5 for 95 yards. It was his 30-yard aerial to Feuerhelm and 20-yard throw to McCutcheon that set up Berg's winning score.

Three quick touchdowns by Buena Vista in the second quarter enabled the Beavers to foil the U's title bid, winning, 19-6. Rathje scored the lone 6 points from the 5, after carrying the ball there on a 17-yard pass from Dick Purcell.

Navy Pier squeezed by Dubuque 14-13 in the season's finale. Johannsen passed to Harbrecht on the 5 for the first TD and pitched out to Berg in a play covering 34 yards for the other.

Of the 21 letters awarded, 9 went to seniors, Charles Papa, Marvin O'Hare, Don Hunter, Leonard Rust, McCutcheon, Berthold, Berg, Vining, and Purcell; 3 to juniors, Alamsha, Sparger, and Feuerhelm; 4 to sophomores, Ray Harbrecht, Duty, Johannsen, and Dotzel; and 4 to freshmen, Wayne Steensen, Ray Spielman, Roger Hedrick, and Rathje.

Finish Season With .500

Basketball Coach Tony Schavone.

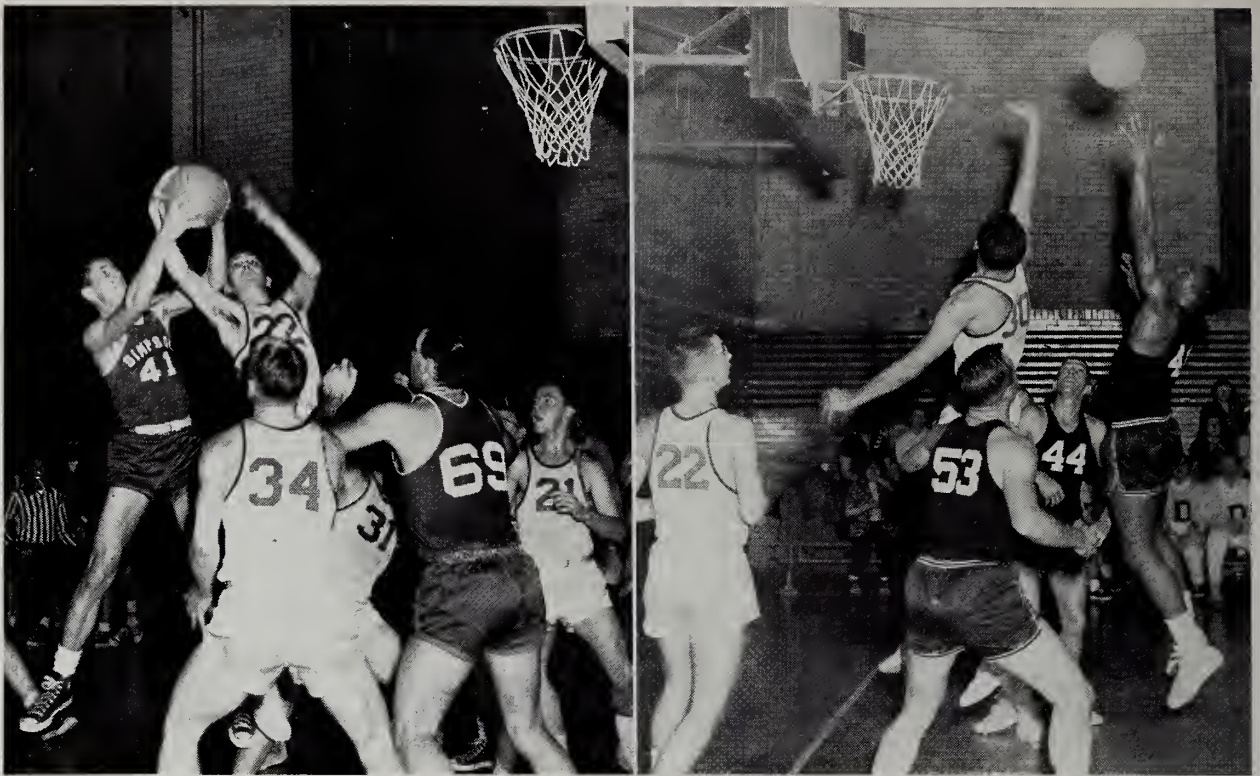

In Tony Schavone's first year as cage mentor, the University Courtmen won twelve and lost ten. They finished in fourth place in the Iowa Conference with eight wins, eight losses, making .500 percent. Oddly enough, the record for the first half of the season was almost exactly opposite the second. Getting off to a fast start, Dubuque won eight of its initial eleven games and were in the thick of the conference race. However, the rest of the way the Spartans dropped seven out of eleven, mostly on the road.

After tripping a tough Coe team 46-45 in the curtain raiser, the UD hoopsters flattened a weak Platteville Tech club 74 to 52 for the home opener.

In an overtime thriller, Tony's proteges squeaked by Platteville Teachers 64-62. The see-saw game was knotted up 58 all at the end of the regulation game period. Milt Hood and John Busch kept the score tied in the extra period when with five seconds on the clock, Hood hit from the side to cap the Dubuque victory.

Who's got the ball, Ref?

Spartan cagers stretch for that ball.

Buena Vista fell 57-46, as Dale Schasker broke a school record with 16 free throws, 12 coming consecutively.

Westmar then shattered the U's four-game winning streak by taking a 72-59 tilt.

Conference Champion Wartburg won a hard fought tussel on their home court 63-57.

Next Iowa Wesleyan kept the skids greased by registering a 82-76 triumph. Al Bottoms canned 20 points in the lost cause.

Back on the victory trail, Dubuque started another four game streak by breezing by Platteville Tech again, this time 70-57. Simpson bowed 57-44.

Behind 39-37 at halftime against Upper Iowa, the Blue and White rallied after the intermission to notch a 73-59 win.

With twin scoring giants, Bill Reid and Dale Schasker pacing a red-hot attack, Dubuque skipped by Parsons 82-75. Reid hit eight of his first 11 shots and Schasker made two more school records by dialing 16 baskets and three free throws for 35 points.

Iowa Wesleyan threw a road block into the U's victory string by taking a 73-53 ball game. Key men Schasker and Dewey Feuerhelm fouled out in the final minutes of play as Luther won 52-50.

League leading Central fell to a fired-up Spartan cage crew 66-64 in a nip and tuck clash. Trailing by 8 to 10 points through most of the first period, Dubuque closed the gap to 33-30 at the half.

The lead had changed hands several times in the closing minutes when Dick Purcell tied the count with a free throw 64 up, with only seconds left to play.

Purcell's second attempt was short, but Reid snatched the rebound and dropped in the winning goal as the buzzer sounded. Reid also had his best scoring night with 27 points.

Shrewd teamwork and also fine shooting sparked the U's 63-50 defeat of Simpson. When Schasker suffered a leg injury early in the second half after sinking eight straight shots, Feuerhelm capably filled in, swishing five baskets and a free throw.

It was a case of too much Bob Adix when Wartburg invaded McCormick gym to take a 88-63 game. After holding the Knights to 39-33 at halftime, Dubuque was unable to cope with Adix, Conference scoring champ, who hit for 34 points.

Next Simpson threw a scare into Dubuque on the Redmen's home court before going down 55-54. Central held the upper hand in their return engagement, shooting 450 to post a 67-43 Dutch victory.

After trouncing Upper Iowa 86-61, the U cagemen wound up the season dropping tilts to Parsons 71-64, and Luther 76-63. Busch tied with Reid for high point position in the finale by canning 16 markers.

Dick Purcell served as captain during the 1954-1955 season. Schavone will lose seniors Purcell, Al Bottoms, and Sammy Rice through graduation, but returning for next season are the great one-two scoring punch of Schasker and Reid, regular Feuerhelm, and outstanding reserves Busch, Hood, and Larry Morningstar.

Extra-Curricular Action

Ann's "big" day.

Three important facets of campus activity yet unmentioned are the pep assemblies, half-time entertainment at basketball games and faculty recreation.

Helping to support the U athletic teams and to create a winning spirit in the student body, the Spartan Club periodically sponsors pep rallies in McCormick Gymnasium. After the last game of a particular sport, the club plans a recognition assembly to top off the season and to honor the coach and team members. Such was the case after the basketball season, when U girls replaced the "stars" in a little scrimmage for the student body. Ann Sullivan appeared as Coach Tony Schavone.

Half-time entertainment for basketball games is another treat. Sometimes tumblers or rope-jumpers perform, or even better the faculty will challenge athletic members of the U family to a volleyball game.

Faculty recreation is held in the Gym on Monday evenings. A favorite pastime for this evening is square-dancing under the direction of "Pete" Peterson.

That's some gesture, Prof.

"Tra-la-la-Li."

1954 Track Team Wins

Establishing themselves as the top small college track team in the Midwest, as well as one of the best in the country, the University of Dubuque thinclads have not lost an outdoor dual meet since 1947. For the second straight year, the Blue and White won Division II of the Naperville Indoor Relays over 14 other Midwest Schools representing five states. They topped the field at the Coe Relays, winning 5 first places and 6 other places.

At the Iowa Teachers Relays the UD cinder-men placed nine men. Capturing gold belt buckles in the Drake Relays, the male quartet set a Relays record with a 3:23.3 clocking. The half-mile relay team also won at Drake for a new Dubuque mark. Running against the nation's best timber-toppers, Keith Holmes placed third in the low hurdles university and college division.

Most of the Spartans' best performances were made against the rugged field in the Elmhurst Invitational. Dubuque finished third, ahead of Loyola, Wabash, Beloit, Illinois Tech, and Washington.

In dual meets Luthers lost 90 7/12 to 40 5/12, and Augustana bowed 100 to 31. ISTC nipped the U team 52 to 48 indoors early in the season.

At the 1954 Iowa Conference finals held on Chalmers Field, Dubuque capped a banner season with its fourth straight title. Canadian Ivan "Satch" Livingstone led the Spartans in scoring with 67 1/2 markers. Satch won the conference 100 and 220 yard dashes, tying the school record in both. He also anchored the record-smashing mile relay team.

Satch, Ray Bley, Arnie Ziegler, and Dudley Millen were four key senior runners. All were members of the U's crack relay teams that won at Drake. Millen also picked up points running the middle distances. Ziegler set two loop marks in the 440 and 880 yard runs. During the course of the season, the Mercermen broke or tied ten records.

1955 Track Team

Though several key relay men were lost through graduation, Dubuque thinclads have almost as much potential as last year.

Paradoxically enough, the Spartan's reputation has turned against them. This season as well as last, Coach Moco Mercer has had a difficult time scheduling opponents. Only three schools, Luther, Augustana, and Upper Iowa would have any part of the U in a dual. Many of the larger schools that refused to schedule Moc's proteges had three to five times the enrollment of Dubuque.

In the field events, the U is stronger than in '54 because of an added year of experience. Duty, Rice, Turnbull, Melchert, and Harbrecht have returned to give Dubuque a well-balanced unit.

In the first meet of the season, the Naperville Relays, the Spartans snuck away with a third place. Capturing medals for the U were Turnbull, broad jumper, leaping 22' 8"; Norm Stenzel, freshman star, placing third and fourth in the high and low hurdles respectively; and George French, ace distant man, taking second place in the mile. Dick Duty placed third in the shot put and Warren Melchert tied for third in the pole vault.

Leaping over a high hurdle is frosh ace Norm Stenzel.

Middle Row—G. Turnbull, J. DeJong, C. Willis, R. Harbrecht, K. Quirk, N. Stenzel, W. Berg.

Dubuque's new golf coach, Dr. Sylvan Jaenke, faces a big rebuilding program with his Spartan linksmen this spring. Sophomore Bob Barnes is the only returning letterman from last season. Three top prospects are experienced frosh Ken Gordon and Gus Weitzel, member of an air force team last year, and senior Al Spensley, who lettered at Dubuque Senior High.

Intramural Sports

Badminton winner A. Mitchell and runner-up M. Taylor.

Throughout the school year the physical education department offers an intramural sports program to both men and women students.

This program functions under the direction of Clarence T. Peterson, physical education professor. "Pete" who is responsible for the coordination of the intramural tournaments urges all students to participate in this individual and class competition. Tennis, horseshoes, golf, archery, and badminton are among the activities that are included in this program.
